

Greg P. Gleason
www.greggleason.com
843/568-6763
greggleason@gmail.com

For Sale

Burdened with family and financial problems, four individuals from different social classes think buying a house will solve all their problems. Instead, their lives get turned upside down with the housing market crash of 2008.

Robert buys his spoiled wife and daughter everything they could ever need, but still feels worlds apart. Trevor thinks he's a failure who is unable to give his wife the house of her dreams. Michael, after remodeling and selling his first house, thinks he's on the path to easy street. Jocelyn is compelled to prove to her accountant husband that she is just as financially savvy as he is.

Each one believes buying a house will solve all their problems, but it just makes things worse. With the collapse of the housing market their lives spiral out of control with imminent bankruptcy, and divorce looming over head. Ultimately, each one discovers that family, not money, is what's truly important.

FOR SALE is a intertwined multi-plot dramatic comedy in the vein of CRASH meets THE MONEY PIT. A recent graduate of the Vancouver Film School, I have worked on over fifty short films and two German television shows.

For a copy please call 843/568-6763 or email: greggleason@gmail.com