SILVER FOXES

Four spunky eighty-year-old women discovering the secret their husbands hid in China over sixty years ago, are the only hope of stopping World War III.

When the C.I.A. arrives at their dingy assisted living home in New Jersey, Mary, Ruth, Ethel and Barbara's only excitement has been tonight's TV show. Soon, the women are put through a crash course in spy training and immediately flown to China where they bicker their way through wacky misadventures and awkward situations. Their extraordinary journey across the country turns dark as they find out just what the C.I.A. agent expects them to do. Utilizing their wits and skills, the elderly heroines ultimately prevail.

SILVER FOXES is a light-hearted action/adventure comedy in the vein of GOLDEN GIRLS forced to become spies. I recently attended the American Film Market and met with several production companies who are interested in producing Silver Foxes as soon as actors are attached. I am a recent graduate of the Vancouver Film School and have worked on over fifty short films and two German television shows.
